Dec. 3. 1904

BOSTON, February 15, 1900.

HON. THOMAS N. HART,

Mayor of the City of Boston :

SIR, — In compliance with the requirements of section 24, of chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances, the Board of Election Commissioners respectfully submits its annual report for the year 1899.

At the beginning of the year the figures submitted by us to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment as our estimated requirements for the year were based upon the probability of an unusually heavy registration, owing to the fact that the contest for the mayoralty nomination, particularly in one of the two leading political parties, would bring out a large number of voters at the caucuses, and the experience of this department warranted us in assuming that as the registration increased so the cost of carrying on the department became greater. Though the amount allowed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was $9,500 less than our figures, it was our good fortune to carry on the department, not only within the amount allowed, but to have a substantial balance left to our credit, as was the case also the preceding year. This result was brought about only by exercising great care in our expenditures and it has been demonstrated to our satisfaction that the additional demands upon this office in the years of heavy registration can be met successfully without a great increase in the office force. The supplementary registration was very heavy in September, owing to the Act of 1898, chapter 548, section 20, which provides that there shall be no supplementary assessment after October first. During the month of September the registration was done entirely at the central office, and for most of that month the office was kept open, in connection with the assessors' office, until ten o'clock in the evening in response to the claim that many of those seeking to be assessed and registered had neither the time nor opportunity to attend to it during the day. It may be thought advisable in the future to provide places for evening registration in co-operation with the Assessing Department in the different wards during September to relieve the central office. If such places are provided, the number of evenings usually provided for registration in the different wards prior to the State and City elections may be reduced, so that no additional expenditure will be necessary to make such provision.

The number of male voters on the first printed list made up from the assessors' returns to this department was 84,967. There were 15,524 names added prior to the State election and 2,334 names added before the city election making after the necessary revision the total number of male voters registered for the city election 102,875, thus exceeding the similar registration in 1897 of 102,473, which up to that time was the largest in the history of the city. At the city election in 1897 79,763 votes were cast for mayor, and in 1899 81,341 votes were cast for the same office, the latter being the highest number of votes cast in this city for mayor. In 1896 out of the total registration of 96,746 male voters 82,198 votes were cast for president and 80,405 votes for governor. There was no mayor elected that year so the comparison of votes cast cannot be further extended.

CAUCUSES AND ELECTIONS.

The Act of 1899, chapter 346, regulating the holding of caucuses reduced the number of caucuses held in Boston from seven to four for the two leading political parties. The separate caucuses for choosing a ward and city committee, and the separate caucuses for the nomination of candidates for representatives to the General Court and for the Common Council are no longer held as formerly by one of the two leading political parties, but their nominations are made at one or the other of the two regular caucuses. The interval between the State and City elections is so short that in order to comply with the requirements of law with regard to issuing the call for caucuses prior to the city election, and with regard to filing certificates of nomination and nomination papers, the caucuses of the two leading political parties were held in the past year on successive evenings in the same place, and created some embarrassment in making proper arrangements for the caucuses held on the second evening. In two wards the votes cast in the caucuses on the first evening were not counted until the afternoon of the second day, and in one of these wards the caucus officers had not completed the count and return of votes cast until nearly two hours after the time fixed for the beginning of the second caucus. This condition of affairs could have been prevented by agreement of the two parties not to call their caucuses on successive evenings, but in the absence of any such agreement, without a change in the law the same embarrassment is likely to arise again.

The Socialist Labor party having established itself as a political party in accordance with law, by the vote cast for its candidate for governor in 1898, held caucuses for the first time during the past year. On account of failure to comply with the provisions of law, no caucuses were held by this party prior to the State election, but a call was seasonably issued for caucuses in all the wards of the city prior to the City election, and suitable and convenient places were provided by us for holding such caucuses. In some of the wards it was understood by us, and it proved to be the case, that no nominations were to be made, yet it became necessary to provide a blank ballot in such cases, and to equip the polling places as if a caucus were to be held. No ballots were cast in these wards, and we submit that some change in the law should be made whereby it will be necessary to provide polling places only in such wards where nominations are made and printed on a ballot furnished by this department, notwithstanding the original call for the caucuses included all the wards.

In addition to the caucuses and elections above referred to, a caucus and election were held in the Thirteenth Suffolk Representative District, to fill a vacancy caused by the death, previous to the meeting of the Legislature, of the candidate chosen at the State election.

The caucus officers have as a rule performed their work satisfactorily, and the conduct of the caucuses shows from year to year a great improvement. Unusually large caucuses were held the past year, and the returns generally were prompt and accurate. Whether any further improvement could be accomplished by providing compensation for such officers, is a matter worthy of serious consideration.

It is claimed that where such officers are paid voluntarily by the ward committees better service is given. If the law required that some compensation should be paid to such officers, either by the political parties or by the city, it would undoubtedly be welcome to such as already perform their whole duty, and perhaps secure greater efficiency throughout the city.

The election officers, too, have generally served the city faithfully and well the past year. In each of the 191 precincts in the city we appointed a warden, clerk and four inspectors, representing equally the two leading political parties, and 1,146 such officers were appointed and qualified, after being gathered together in different sections of the city to be instructed as to their duties. With so large a number it is not surprising that a few cases of dereliction of duty should arise, but these are dealt with summarily. Two election officers were discharged during the past year during the progress of the election, as their conduct and condition were such as to disqualify them from further service, and one officer who was nominated from the floor to fill a vacancy was removed upon complaint, which was sustained, that he was not affiliated with the political party which he was chosen to represent. As against these cases of malfeasance in the discharge of their duty, it can be said that the great majority of our election officers, many of whom serve from year to year, are loyal to the public and to the party which they represent, and their work is uniformly characterized by promptness, honesty and accuracy. In addition to the six election officers regularly appointed to serve in each precinct, the same number of deputies are also appointed in accordance with law, and we experienced some difficulty in securing the presence of these deputies prior to the election in order that they might be instructed as to their duties and sworn to faithfully and impartially discharge the same, which is necessary before they are entitled to receive compensation for their services. As very few of them are called upon to fill the places of regulars at the elections, the great majority of those who qualify receive one dollar and fifty cents for reporting at the opening of the polls, which is the only duty required of them.

Our opinion previously expressed that these deputy election officers should be dispensed with and the money now paid them saved is strengthened by the experience of the department the past year.

The difference in the number of male voters in the several precincts has become so great as to call for some change in the existing conditions. The ward lines will be changed again in five years, but the precinct lines should be changed at once, if additional precincts are not deemed advisable. With the 191 existing precincts the average of male voters based upon the registration at the city election of 102,875 would be 539. The number of voters in the precincts varies from 863 to 234, while 104 precincts contain less than 539 male voters and 87 precincts over that number. We are of the opinion that if enough additional precincts were provided to make the whole number 250 the best results would be accomplished; with the registration at the present figures there would then be an average of 411 voters in each precinct, and this number would ensure a more prompt return of votes cast. The rapid growth and development of the suburban wards have caused them to exceed greatly the number of voters in most of the old wards; and by an examination of the tables in the following pages it will be noticed that there is a wide variance in the number of voters in each ward, the highest number being 5,915 and the lowest 2,730. This would seem to warrant an immediate change in the ward lines if such a course were authorized by law.

ELECTION BOOTHS AND POLLING PLACES.

In our last annual report we stated at some length the reasons which made it necessary to purchase one hundred voting booths made of thin corrugated steel, and we then admitted that the severe test given these booths at the city election in December, 1898, when the weather was unusually trying and the temperature at zero, proved conclusively that they were not adapted for use in such weather as is likely to occur at the time of the city election. The matter of making them comfortable at such times was considered, and it was decided to have the sides and top lined with thin wooden sheathing, and we believe they are now so equipped as to fully and satisfactorily answer the purpose for which they were built, although the weather at the last city election was mild and afforded no opportunity for a thorough test. The expense of making this change was greater than we expected, but was largely covered by the amount received the past year from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for moving, fitting up and repairing the old wooden booths belonging to this department which were loaned in 1898 during the war with Spain for the use of the State troops enlisting into the service of the government. Until we are again allowed the use of the school buildings for polling places the public must be contented with the accommodations and facilities offered by these booths.

RECOUNTS.

The reduction in the number of caucuses held in this city by one of the leading political parties before referred to has reduced somewhat the number of petitions for recounts of votes cast at caucuses, but there has been no falling off in the number of petitions for recounts of votes cast at elections.

On the whole such recounts have been conducted with little friction, and apparently to the satisfaction of all parties. Owing to the other demands upon the office at the busy season and the limited office force it has been necessary to recount votes on the Sabbath day on two occasions much to our regret and annoyance. We hope it will not again be necessary to do this. In 1898 a change was made in conducting the general recount after the city election by securing a large and well lighted hall in the immediate vicinity of our offices, and employing an extra force of skilled clerks that the work might be more quickly done than in the small and poorly ventilated room connected with our offices where such recounts had been previously conducted. So successful were the results that we conducted the general recount after the last city election in the same hall which had sufficient floor space to allow the placing of fifteen tables, at each of which two clerks were assigned representing the two leading political parties. We were enabled also to accommodate the large number of candidates interested by giving them full representation, and we believe that until the law is changed so that some limitation shall be placed upon the right to petition for a recount the method of conducting a general recount of the votes of the city, thus followed by us, is the one which gives the greatest satisfaction to the public, and accomplishes the best results.

The abuse of the right to petition for a recount does not diminish. Numerous petitions are filed, signed by the ten required voters, who make oath to the truth of their petition which sets forth that a recount would affect the result, whereas in truth and in fact the margin is so great that no such change could naturally be expected. As the recount progresses, it is found that an inspection of the ballots, particularly of caucus ballots, is only desired, and by the admission of interested parties present it is evident that there is no expectation that the result will be changed. If a penalty were imposed by statute upon petitioners in such cases we believe that the abuse above set forth would be greatly modified.

Nine complaints for illegal registration were filed with this department during the past year, and but two complaints in 1898, which would indicate that the lists of voters as prepared by us on the whole contain only such names as are entitled to be placed thereon. Of the nine complaints in 1899, in two cases no warrant was issued, as the evidence submitted was deemed insufficient. In the remaining seven cases warrants were issued, and after hearings conducted in accordance with the new method of procedure established by the Legislature of 1898, five of these complaints were dismissed, in two instances from the failure of the complaining parties to further prosecute. The evidence in two cases was adjudged sufficient, and the names were stricken from the lists. We again urge the passage of a law which shall give the complainants in this class of cases authority to summon witnesses, and an adequate penalty should be attached to the failure to respond to such summons.

During the past year objections in writing were filed with us as the Ballot Law Commission of the city of Boston in seven cases, all of which were objections to the nominations of aldermanic candidates. We were called upon to hear and determine four of these cases, objections in the other three being withdrawn before reached. Of the cases heard three were unanimously decided adversely to the objectors, and in one case the designation of the candidate was adjudged not to be within the statute and the objections were sustained and the name of the candidate was not printed on the ballot.

JURORS.

The system of preparing the jury list by this Board was set forth at length in our report last year, and certain suggestions were made which, in our opinion, if carried out, would be an improvement on the present system. It is our aim to prepare a list which shall contain men of the character and intelligence desired for such service, and we exercise great care in the selection, and during the past year we have received no complaint that the jurors drawn for service had not the requisite qualifications, which is some evidence that the present system works well. We agree with the Attorney-General that the exempted class is too large, and are inclined to join in his opinion that if the term of service were further reduced, active business men who object to serving on the jury, but whose experience and judgment especially fit them for such service would be less incommoded. It is claimed, too, that a large number of our intelligent citizens do not register as voters because they wish to escape jury service. A partial remedy for this would be to prepare the jury list from the list of assessed polls, but we see so many objections to the latter course that we cannot recommend any such change.

Under the law a person who is drawn and serves is exempt for three years, but there is no requirement that clerks of courts send to us the names of jurors who actually serve. Our practice is therefore to follow the list of persons drawn sent to us by the city clerk and mark such names as exempt for three years. It is known that some of those drawn do not report on account of temporary illness, or for some other good cause, and others are excused by the Court for reasons then judged sufficient, but who might be required to serve at another time. The law could be more strictly administered by us if the names of persons serving were thus submitted to us.

A few changes in the law have been suggested in the preceding pages, but in no instance do we believe the public would suffer greatly if the suggestions were not acted upon immediately. The laws regarding caucuses and elections are now fairly understood, and in the main are working well. If the Election Act of 1898 is to be further amended or modified it should be done, in our opinion, only when serious defects are discovered in the operation of the law which can be remedied only by new legislation. In this connection we desire to cite a few additional instances of defects in the law which have come to our attention during the past year.

At the caucus in one of the wards prior to the city election two lists of delegates to the mayoralty convention appeared on the ballot as pledged to the same candidate while the candidate of the opposition had one delegation only. It was claimed, and from the evidence disclosed at the recount, the claim seemed to be justified, that but one of the two delegates pledged to the same candidate was filed by the supporters of that candidate, while the other was filed with the intention of confusing and deceiving the voters and thereby secure the election of the delegation pledged to the opposing candidate. If such were the purpose the scheme was successfully carried out. A bill is pending before the Legislature (House No. 245) to allow the person, to whom such a delegation is described as pledged or favorable, the right to have such designation or description stricken from the nomination papers before the ballot is printed. If this bill should become a law the relief desired would be accomplished.

The district system of electing aldermen provided by chapter 355 of the Acts of 1899 became operative the past year, and the contests for the caucus nominations in several of the districts were very warm. Following the caucuses numerous nomination papers in the interest of independent candidates were circulated for the required signatures and then filed with us that the number of legal voters appearing thereon might be certified. The papers were then returned to the persons filing the same or their duly authorized representatives and when the required number of legal voters was obtained, the nomination papers were finally filed with this department. On the last day provided for filing nomination papers prior to the city election one of these papers which had been duly certified was returned to the person who said he had filed the same, and who signed in a book provided for the purpose the name of the person who was the filer of the paper. It appeared almost immediately thereafter that the paper had been obtained by fraud, but the culprit had disappeared, and in the crowded condition of the office at the time an accurate description of him could not be given the police who were called upon to apprehend the criminal, and any possible accomplices. Though suspicion pointed to certain persons we were unable to procure sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest. The would-be candidate who was thus defrauded petitioned for the right to have his name placed on the official ballot, but under the circumstances, though anxious to do so, after careful inquiry, we decided we could not grant the relief desired in the premises. Hereafter in addition to the usual precautions taken against such deceit we shall give a receipt to the person so filing a nomination paper for certification of the signatures, and shall return the paper only on presentation of the receipt or to the candidate in person if he is known to us. We believe such a practice will prevent a similar occurrence, and do not consider that any legislation on the subject is called for.

A practice of filing independent nomination papers containing the same surname as that of the candidate nominated at the caucus has arisen, and if these papers are not filed in good faith, but if as is claimed, for the sole purpose of defeating the regular candidate, we believe it to be an abuse of the law which should be remedied. If objections to such independent nomination papers for candidates to be voted for at the city election were made before this Board sitting as the Ballot Law Commission on the grounds above set forth it could be determined whether the statute defining the duties of the Commission were broad enough to consider such objections. If the statute does not confer such power it would seem advisable to have it so amended that the regular nominated candidate may not be defeated by any such questionable practice.

The same Christian name as well as surname, it is claimed, also, has been used for the purpose mentioned above, which is even a more objectionable feature of this practice.

It has been found that the operation of section 128 of the Election Act of 1898, which provides for the appointment by this Board of additional caucus officers, has not in most cases accomplished the results desired. Instead of the faction in the party without representation behind the rail obtaining these officers the drawing by lot has often given a majority of these five additional caucus officers in each ward to the faction in control of the rail. Yet we believe a further trial of the law should be given rather than to repeal a statute so recently enacted.

Two important matters of great interest to the public are before the Legislature, and we hope will receive serious consideration. The holding of primary elections has for some time been favored by many on the ground that it would cure existing abuses of the caucus laws. If but one caucus should be held prior to the State election and one caucus before the city election at which all political parties shall select candidates there would be a substantial saving of expense to the city. The details of such a new system, such as the printing of a single ballot or separate ballots for each political party, the selection of officers to preside and conduct the caucus and the proper safeguards to regulate the enrolment of the voters with the different parties are matters to be deliberately considered and passed upon only after such careful consideration.

The proposition to change the system of placing the names of candidates for the same office now placed alphabetically on the official ballot at caucuses and elections is one in which the public have a deep interest. There is no doubt but that the names having the first places on the ballot receive an undue advantage on this account. A bill is before the Legislature providing that in this city the arrangement of names on the ballots in elections shall be decided by lot, the drawing to take place under the direction of this Board in the presence of the different candidates, and if such a change is desired by the public it seems to us an entirely feasible proposition.

There have been several changes in the Board during the past year. In October, 1899, Hon. Joseph J. Corbett, in accordance with a fixed determination of many months' standing, resigned as a member of the Board. The resignation of Mr. Corbett was deeply regretted by his remaining associates. He brought to the discharge of his duties an experience that rendered him peculiarly well qualified to fill the office, and during the eighteen months that he was with us the department benefited distinctly by his services, and by his retirement the city suffered the loss of a capable, experienced and upright official.

Upon the retirement of Mr. Corbett, the Mayor, acting under the provisions of the Revised Ordinances, designated Mr. John H. Donovan of the Assessing Department to temporarily discharge the duties of Election Commissioner. Such duties were faithfully and intelligently performed by Mr. Donovan, who continued as acting Election Commissioner until after the recount which followed the city election, when Hon. Patrick J. Kennedy was appointed Commissioner for the unexpired term.

EXPENSES.

At the beginning of the year the Board submitted as an estimate of the probable expenditures of the department the sum of $137,000, and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment allowed therefor the sum of $127,500. A further sum of $5,006.62 was received from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in payment of expenses incurred by this department in fitting up the wooden booths for army purposes, and for damages and loss of property, which sum was credited to this department's appropriation; and a balance to the account of Special Loan for new steel voting-booths and furnishings of $404.27 gave to our appropriation for the year 1899 a total sum of $132,910.89.

There has actually been expended by this department during the year 1899, chargeable to the regular appropriation the sum of $126,892.44 and on account of the special loan for new voting-booths the balance from loan of $404.27, or a total expenditure of $127,296.71. There remains, therefore, to the credit of this department the sum of $5,614.18.

The expenditures of the department in detail for the financial year ending January 31, 1900, are as follows:

The following pages show in tabulated form the number of assessed polls, registered voters and votes cast in this city at the State, municipal and one special election held in 1899. The arrangement of some of the tables has been changed from that of former years and we have profited by the system adopted by the "City Record," which has printed many of the election returns prepared at their request by this department.

The inventory of the property of the department, prepared as required by the Revised Ordinances forms a part of this report, as directed by your printed instructions of February 3, 1900.

Inventory of Property Belonging to or Used by the Election Department.

- 103 Voting booths made of thin corrugated steel, built in 1897 and 1898.
 20 Wooden voting booths built in 1898 as permanent structures.
 34 Old wooden voting booths, known as "knock-down" buildings.

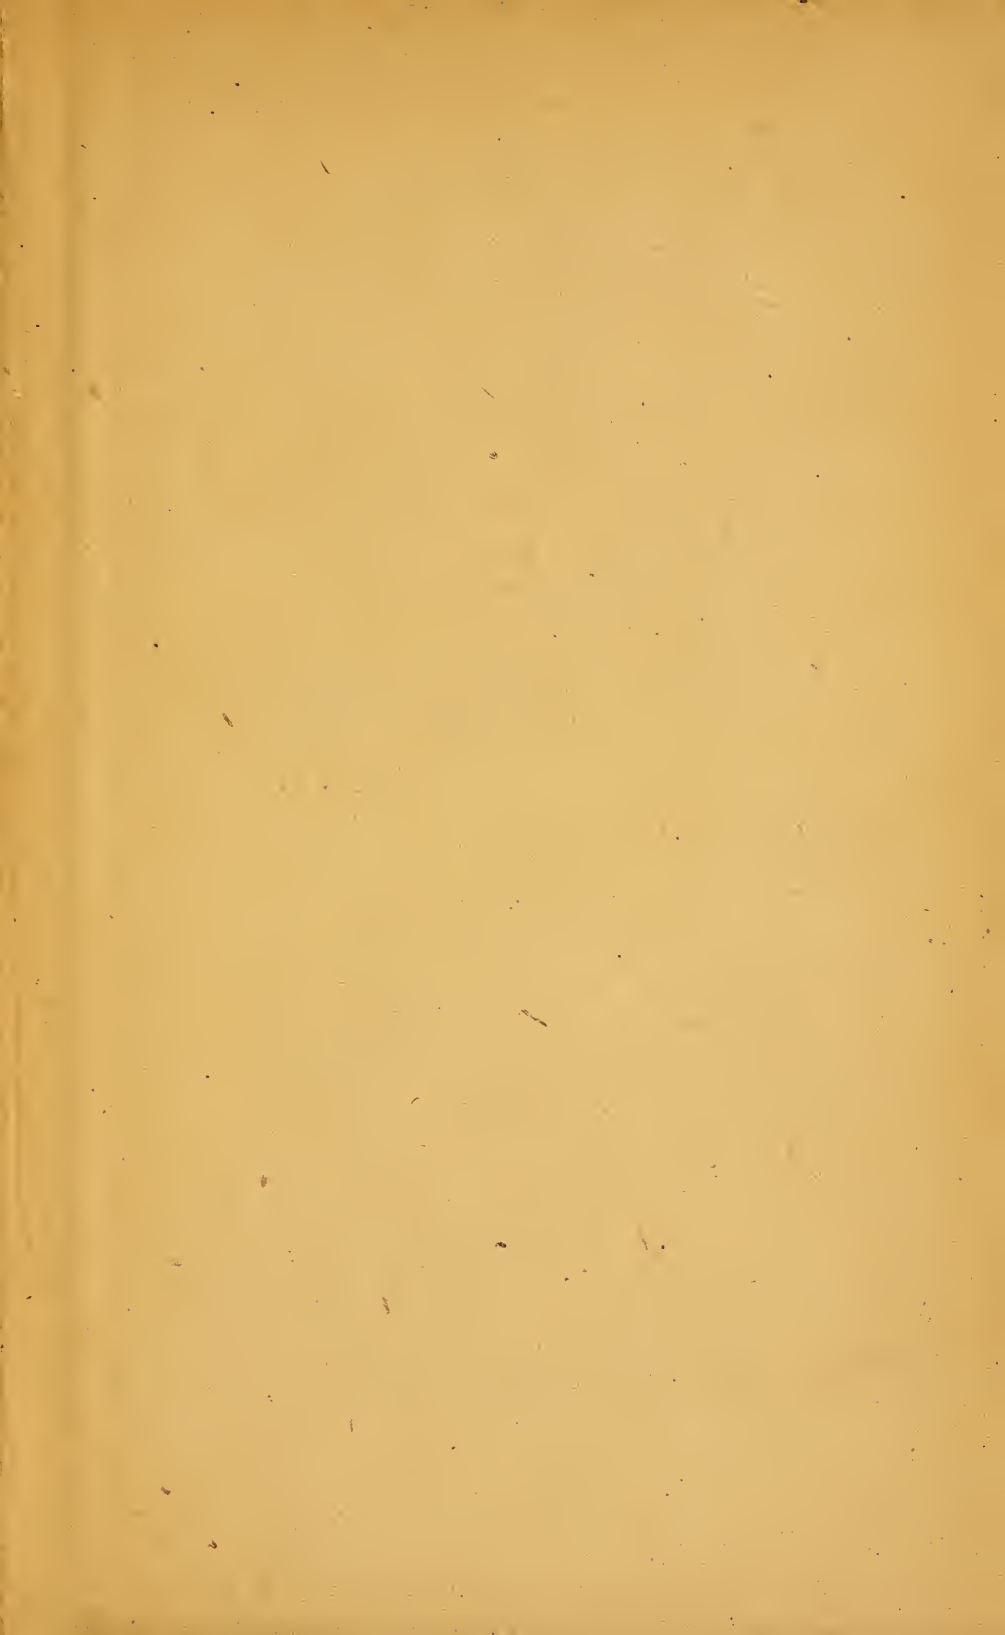

The above booths when not in use are stored at different places in the city. Two additional old wooden booths, not removed from locations, are also used as polling places. To each booth belong railings and voting compartments, tables, chairs, stove and other necessary furnishings and voting paraphernalia. The department now owns 1,654 chairs, 744 tables, 554 voting compartments and 1,106 wooden horses for the same, 200 stools for ballot-boxes, 196 counting boards, 174 stoves and the required lamps, coal-hods, shovels, pokers, coal-barrels and other minor equipment for the voting booths.

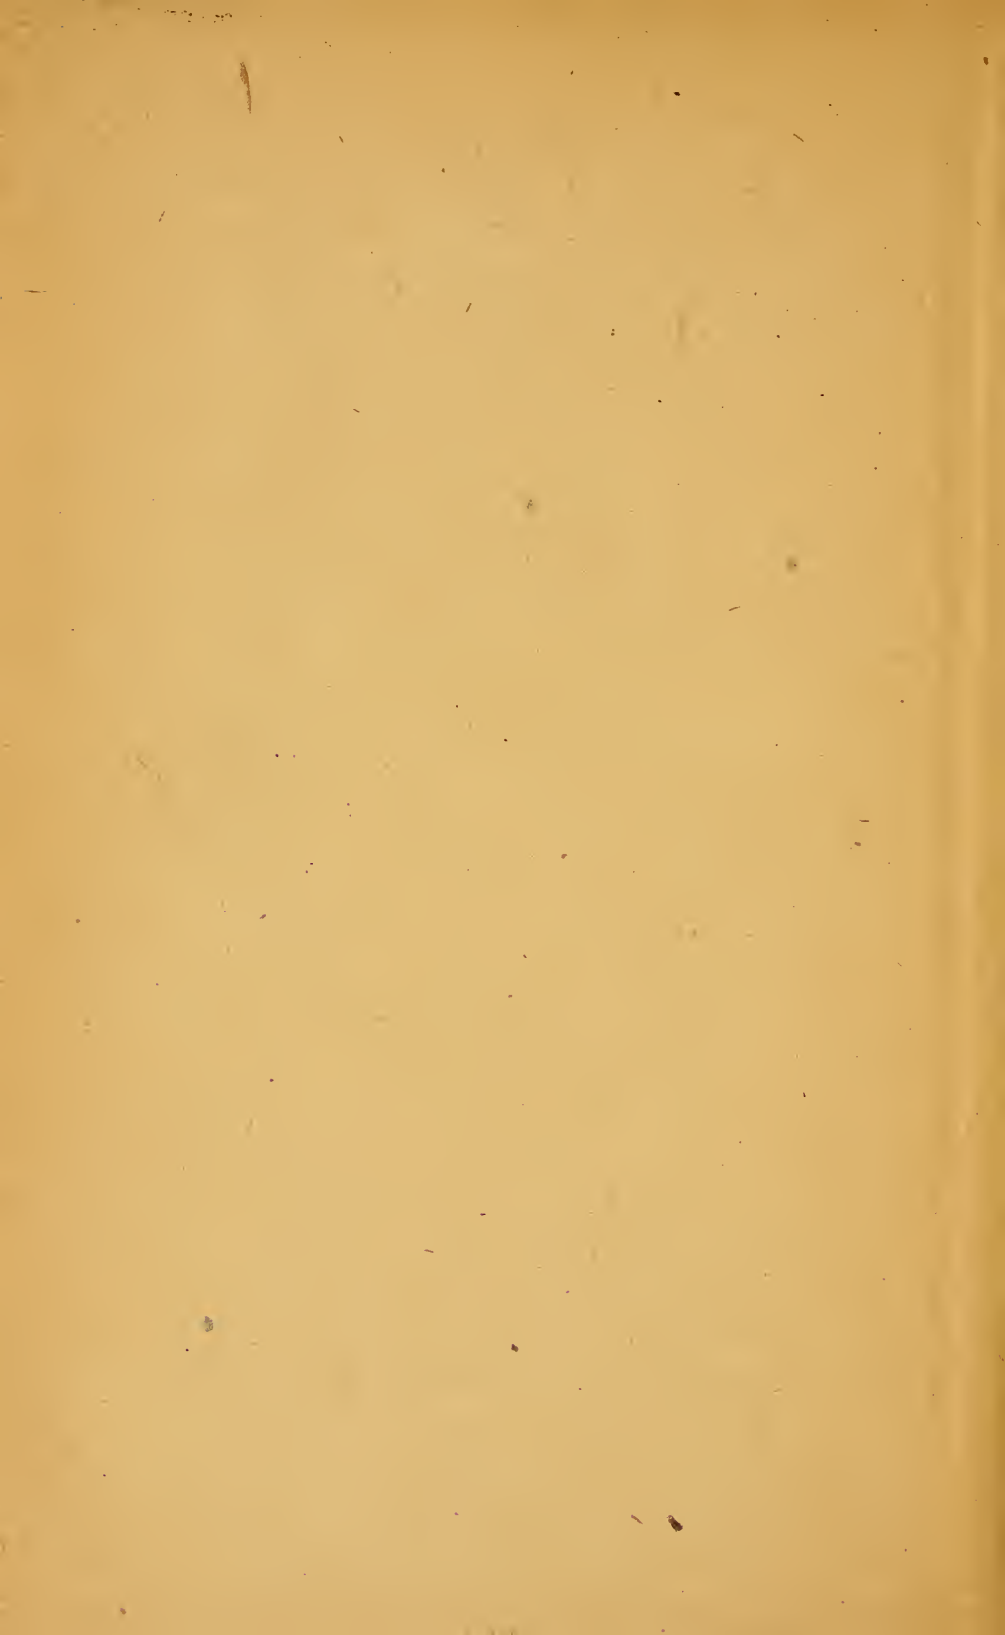

Many of the old wooden voting booths were loaned in former years, by order of the Mayor, to other departments of the city. Seventeen of these have not been returned, and are charged to the following departments: Health Department, 1; Street Department, 1; Bath Department, 13; City Hospital, 2. Of the booths loaned to the State in 1898, two were not returned; a fair value for the same has been paid to the city.

- 185 Federal ballot-boxes, mostly in fair condition, used at elections.
 25 United States ballot-boxes, comparatively new, used for caucuses.
 25 Standard ballot-boxes, formerly used at caucuses, and now used as "extras" at caucuses and elections.
 29 Acme ballot-boxes, 6 of which are regularly used at elections and the balance as "extras" at caucuses and elections.

All of the above are kept in the basement room in the Old Court House. At the store-house in South Boston are 277 old ballot-boxes, not answering the present requirements of law, but placed at each polling-place at elections for temporary use in case of emergency; also 108 old revolving ballot-boxes, not now of any available use.

Office furniture in Rooms 1, 2, 8 and 9, Old Court House, used as the offices of the department, consisting of 8 roll-top desks, 8 swivel chairs for the same, and 23 smaller swivel chairs, 1 library table and 5 library chairs, 2 atlas cases, 1 metal filing case, 1 card index cabinet, 1 roll-front document case, 1 wardrobe, 1 coat-rack, 4 long tables, 2 counters, 1 typewriting table, 1 large iron safe, 3 small tables, 4 clocks, metal frame rack in one of large vaults for holding caucus and election cardboard boxes (about 500 in number), and books, stationery, and required minor furnishings and fixtures for office purposes.
